Budget Engagements and Adjustments

Budget Engagements and Adjustments

What we heard

- Desire for transparency and clarity
- Concerns about class size, staffing stability, and program continuity
- Protect student supports and instructional quality
- Long-term planning over short-term fixes

What changed

- Feedback directly influenced changes to the proposed approach
- Funding was added back to school budgets to soften impacts
- Every school will have at least of one counselor
- Additional reductions were shifted to central office, not schools

What comes next

- PPS still faces a $50 million structural deficit
- Final staffing processes will follow established timelines and agreements
- Share updates as information becomes available
- Keep students at the center of every decision
